Travel back in time and across the globe to discover how humans have shaped the world and, in turn, have been shaped by it.

Capturing 2 million years of human history A History of the World in 100 Objects invites students to observe, in a rich and engaging way, the remarkable achievements of humans in the face of change. The exhibition encourages students to consider a diverse range of cultures and societies throughout history.

Curriculum links for the exhibition include:
• History • Visual Arts

Education materials and resources will be available for download from the start of Term 1, 2016. School bookings will be opening soon. CHECK HERE FOR DETAILS

A History of Me in 3 Objects: A Student Challenge

The Challenge: Can your students tell their history in 3 objects? As part of A History of the World in 100 Objects, the Western Australian Museum, in association with the British Museum, invites your students to the challenge of telling their own history in 3 objects.

The Task: Students select 3 human-made objects that are personal to them and that help to tell a story about their life. Students will photograph the objects with curatorial captions that convey their story.

The Outcome: With support from their teachers using our downloadable resources, students can share their stories online via the Western Australian Museum’s website.

Audience: Students from Years 4 – 12.
